Luncheon Program

\(jump to registration section\)

Luncheon Topic:

Free Security Tools

An overview of some of the best Free Information Security and Forensic tools on the market is provided by a panel of infosec experts. Immediately following the Luncheon will be an extended review of these tools and their use. No PC is necessary to attend.

This luncheon will an introduction to the tools that will be demonstrated in the afternoon. The afternoon session will be an in depth demonstration and Q & A of the tools. The afternoon session is free to ISSA members, non- member will be charged $15.00

Both luncheon and workshop will cover the following materials:

Our own Mike Lambert will present volatile data collection and memory forensics. The tools are in suites, such as

- <http://www.moonsols.com/products/>
- <http://forensic.belkasoft.com/en/ram/download.asp> (not a suite)
- <http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/sysinternals/bb842062>
- <http://code.google.com/p/volatility/wiki/FullInstallation>

Mike Pilkington will present FTK Imager. Mike's discussion will basically be an intro to forensics and he will show a number of things you can do with the free FTK Imager tool.

Bryon Indraigo will talk about Team Mentor and Team Professor - free education tools. Team mentor can be used to perform static analysis of code for vulnerabilities. TeamProfessor is a IT Security Education library.
